BY THE KING,

A PROCLAMATION,

Requiring all Seamen and Mariners in His Majeſty's Service to repair forthwith to the Ships of War to which they belong.

WHEREAS by the Seventeenth Article in an Act of Parliament made in the Thirteenth Year of the Reign of King CHARLES II, intituled, AN ACT for the Eſtabliſhing Articles and Orders for the regulating and better Government of His Majeſty's Navies, Ships of War, and Forces by Sea, it is enacted, That all Sea-Captains, Officers, or Mariners, that ſhall deſert the Services, or their Imployment in the ſaid Ships, or ſhall run away, or entice any others ſo to do, ſhall be puniſhed with Death: Notwithſtanding which, it hath been repreſented unto Us by Our Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, that divers Seamen and Mariners, who belong to our Ships of War, depending too much upon the great Lenity & Forbearance which have been uſed of late Years, have either run away from Our ſaid Ships, or being put on Shore into Our Hoſpitals, or into Sick Quarters for the Recovery of their Health, have not returned again to their Duty on Board, and likewiſe that many others, who have had Leave to be abſent for a time, have abſented themſelves beyond the Time limited. We have therefore thought fit, by and with the Advice of Our Privy Council, to publiſh this Our Royal Proclamation: And we do hereby require and command, that all and ſingular ſuch Seamen and Mariners belonging to any of Our Ships of War, who have abſented themſelves from the ſame, as aforeſaid, do forthwith repair on Board ſuch of Our Ships, unto which they do reſpectively belong. And as We are deſirous to give all due Encouragement to ſuch Seamen and Mariners as ſhall do their Duty in their ſeveral Stations and Imployments, ſo We are reſolved to proceed with the utmoſt Severity of Law againſt all ſuch as ſhall diſobey this Our Royal Proclamation: And therefore We are hereby graciouſly pleaſed to declare, that ſuch Seamen and Mariners, who have abſented themſelves from any of Our Ships, as aforeſaid, and ſhall render themſelves on Board the ſame, on or before the Twenty-fourth Day of November next, ſhall not be proſecuted for ſuch their abſenting from Our Service. But we do hereby declare, that all ſuch Seamen and Mariners who ſhall neglect to give Obedience to this Our Royal Proclamation, and ſhall not render themſelves on Board their Ships within the Time herein before limited, as alſo all ſuch Seamen and Mariners, who ſhall hereafter abſent themſelves from Our Service, without the Leave of their reſpective Officers, or beyond the time to them limited, ſhall be proſecuted at a Court Martial with the utmoſt Severity, according to the ſaid Act of Parliament; and that We ſhall not in any wiſe eſteem them as fit Objects of our Mercy: It being Our firm Reſolution to have exact Order and Diſcipline for the future maintained and ſupported in Our Navy and Ships of War.

Given at Our Court at Kenſington, the Twenty-fourth Day of October, in the Eighth Year of Our Reign.

God ſave the King.

The

The Remainder of the Speech of his Excellency J. Belcher Esq;

Gentlemen,

Some Years ago I mention'd to the Assembly, That a Number of Men (in the Pay of the Government) might Travel the Woods and acquaint themselves with our unsettled Borders, and the adjacent Country, and that some skillfull Persons might be employed to take a Survey, and make a correct Map of the Province by Sea and Land; which Things well and faithfully effected must certainly have a good Tendency to the better Safety and Defence of us and our Posterity.

I have lately received Letters from several of the worthy Members of the Honourable Corporation in England for Propagating the Gospel among the Original Natives of this Country, signifiing the good Disposition of that Honourable Company still to extend and encrease that excellent Charity to the Souls of the poor Heathen; and since this Government has done so little from the first Settlement of the Country to this Day for the Conversion of the Indian Natives to the true Christian Faith, although it is declar'd in the Royal Charter to have been the principal End of our Ancestors in settling this Plantation: I heartily wish the Assembly wou'd now encourage the Spreading of the Gospel of JESUS CHRIST among the Indians, by the Grant of a Township to the said Corporation, to be settled for the Use and Service of the Indians, on such Conditions as may be agreed on between a Committee of this Court, and the Commissioners here, of the said Corporation, and this won'd also be one good Means of civilizing the Indians, and of better cementing our Friendship with them.

Gentlemen,

I hope your earliest Attention will be to Things of the greatest Moment, and that you will so conduct your Debates and Resolutions as that they may terminate in the best Establishment of the Prosperity of your Country, and if I can contribute any thing thereto, I sincerely assure you, it will always yield me the highest Satisfaction, and be esteemed the best spent Part of my whole Life.

J. BELCHER.

Warsaw, October 24.

WE have Advice, that General Kingenber, who set out hence lately with the Saxon Cavalry, is arrived on the Frontiers of Silesia, where he has received Orders to wait the King's Arrival, and conduct his Majesty hither. The Russian General Sagreski has made a Motion with his Troops in like Manner to approach this City, and secure his Majesty's Passage: These Steps appear absolutely necessary; for it is but a few Days since we had another Detachment of Polish Troops come to Praage, on the other Side the Vistula, and oblig'd the Burghers of that Place to deliver up all their Records; they then took away all the Contribution Money that was lodg'd there, and appropriated towards the Support of the Saxon Troops; after this they plunder'd the Granaries, and carried off all that was consign'd to this Market, and retir'd without the least Interruption, threatning the Merchants, that if they supply'd the Saxons with the least Grain of Subsistance, they would come and destroy them all, Root and Branch: Some Troops have been thereupon sent to Praage, to secure the Place from future Incursions. We learn farther, that a Dyet has been held at Czerski, whereof Mr. Kestrows, a Staroste of Czerski, was elected Marshal: Here the Nobility all entered into a Confederacy in Favour of King Stanislaus, and engag'd, by solemn Oath to furnish no Manner of Provisions for the Use of the Saxon Troops; They resolved also to raise the Tenth from all Secular and Ecclesiastcal Estates, in whose Hands soever lodg'd and to oblige the Jews in particular to pay a Capitation Tax of four Florins a Head for every Man, and two for every Woman, to maintain the Army.

Frankfort, Nov. 7. Letters from Berlin say, that the King has now the Gout in his Right Arm, and has not closed his Eyes three Nights.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

His Majesty has been pleased to present his Serene Highness the Prince of Orange with the Sum of 10,000 l. to defray the Expence his Highness was at in the late Campain upon the Rhine.

'Tis talked now with great Assurance, that his Majesty will give Licence for advancing to the Emperor, by way of Loan, 500,000 l. on Security of Quick-silver Mines in Silesia.——And that the Affair relating to the Erecting a Civil Government at Gibraltar, is like to take Place; and that a Charter is preparing for that Purpose.

His Majesty has been pleas'd to order, that the Britania, together with twenty-five other Ships of the Line, which were order'd into Harbour, and were only to have their Gunpowder taken on Shore to prevent its receiving Damage, should now be disarm'd, and put into the Docks in order to be refitted.

Affairs on the Rhine are now in such Situation, as if a new Campaign was intended; the Marshal de Noailles being in Motion with 30,000 Men, and a Train of Artillery, for some Enterprize, but what is uncertain; on whose Approach the Germans have abandoned Oppenheim, and are preparing to desert Worms also. The French Parties pillage the Country, even to the very Gates of Manheim; but the Imperialists are likewise in Motion, to defeat their Enterprizes.

The Accounts we receive in relation to the Disposition of the Grand Turk to make Peace with the Persians, or War with the Emperor, vary just as the Weather-cock changes. A South Wind constantly sends Letters from France, mentioning positively, that a Treaty is struck up with Thomas Kouli Kan; but a few Points more to the East, give us Advices from Brussels in direct Opposition to the other. Letters from Constantinople, dated the 25d of September, arriv'd Yesterday by the way of Venice, intimate, that however hard the Conditions are, upon which the Persians offer Peace to the Turks, yet the Porte appears resolv'd to accept them, in order to prevent a general Insurrection of the People, who are greatly discontented with the War in Persia; that as the Ignominy of giving back by Treaty all the Conquests obtain'd at so vast an Expence of Blood and Treasure, would incur upon the Grand Seignior the Contempt of his People, and equally expose him to the Hazard of being depos'd, 'twas judged, the Porte, in order to save their Credit, design'd to let the Persians regain them under Colour of Arms; for Thomas Kouli Kan, with a Body of 40,000 Men, was actually advanced towards Erivad, without any Interruption on the part of the Ottoman Army. These Letters add, that the Porte was so exhausted both of Men and Treasure, that it was not believ'd the Grand Seignior could be spirited up to a War against any Christian Powers; the People also talk'd loudly against it, and that the frequeot Audiences the Prime Vizier gives Count Bonneval, and a certain other Person, to whom the Count is only a Tool, were with no other View than to take the latter in for a few Purses, and to render it necessary for the opposite Party to throw in an equal Weight of Gold, in order to keep the Balance even. An Artifice the Prime Ministers at Constantinople often play off successfully.

This Week one of his Majesty's Messengers in Ordinary was dispatched from St. James's with Letters of Importance, to the Right Hon. Sir Robert Walpole in Norfolk: But whether they are such as require his immediate Return from thence, we can't say: however, 'tis the general Opinion, that the War will be continued, and great Pity it is, that the Endeavours and Time that are spent for an Accommodation should be fruitless, and Advantage taken thereof by the Allies to depress the Emperor, and augment their Sea and Land-Forces ——'Tis, amongst other things, remarked, that the Manning of their Fleets was chiefly owing to the English, Scots and Irish Sailors entering into their Service. To prevent which, Measures will be concerted by the Parliament, who are to meet and sit for the Dispatch of Business on the 14th of January, to encourage the British Sailors, the Glory and Safeguard of this Kingdom, that they may be ready, on all Emergencies, for the Service of their Country.

Yesterday the Right Rev. Dr. Thomas Sherlock, Lord Bishop of Salisbury, was confirm'd at Bow-Church.

Tursday a very large Quantity of Oxen were killed at the Victualling Office, Tower-Hill, for the Use of his Majesty's Fleet; and this Day the like Number of Hogs were killed for the same Use.

The Letters from Oporto all agree, that the Wines made there, and in that Neighbourhood this last Vintage, prove much better than any in many Years before.

The Faulkland Man of War, with the Transports and Troops designed to quell the Rebellious Negroes in Jamaica, sailed from Gibraltar the 9th of October.

Private Letters from Hanover mention, that two young Women

Women had been late apprehended there, for inveigling the young Fellows of several Places in that Electorate into Foreign Service: The Method was, for the Recruiting Officers of a certain neighbouring Prince to plant themselves in Ambush near the Out skirts of the Town, and then to detach these Girls into the Place, to look out such young Fellows, whose Heighth and Dexterity render'd them fit for their Purpose. These the cunning Gipsies found Means to get familiar with, and being of different Complexions, and both of exquisite Beauty, were never long at a Loss for Admirers, to whom they always propos'd running away together, and at the same Time making a great shew of Money, and having a Waggon at Command, their Scheme was easily executed, and the Men, as soon as the Vehicle was arrived in a proper Place, were seized by the Officers, and carried off by Force.

Meditation on the Vanity and Brevity of Human Life, wrote in Imitation of the Psalms: extracted from a Book lately published, entitled, A Select Manual of Divine Meditations and Prayers, &c.

UNHAPPY we; children of the dust! why were we born to see the Sun?

Why did our mothers bring us forth to misery; and unkindly rejoice to hear us cry?

Whither, alas! has their Error led us! into how sad a condition doth our birth engage us?

We enter into the world with weeping eyes, and go out with sighing hearts:

All the few days we live are full of vanity; and our choicest pleasures sprinkled with bitterness:

The time that's past is vanish'd like a dream; and that which is to come is not yet at all:

The present we are in stays but for a moment, and then flies away and returns no more:

Already we are dead to the years we have liv'd; and shall never live them over again:

But the longer we live the shorter is our life; and in the end, we become a little lump of clay.

O vain, and miserable world! how sadly true is all this story?

And yet, alas, this is not all, but new complaints remain, and more, and worse:

We begin our race in contemptible weakness; and our whole course is a progress of dangers:

If we escape the mischances of a child, we pass to the rash adventures of youth:

If we outlive those sudden storms, we fall into more destructive evils:

Our superfluous cares deliberately consume us, and the crosses of the world wore out our lives.

Should we, by strange success, o'ercome all these, and still bear up our prosperous head:

We are sure, at last, old age will find us, and bow our strength down to the grave;

The grave, from which no privilege exempts, whose power no creature is able to controul.

The rich must leave their wealth behind them; and the great ones of the world be crumbled into dust:

The beauteous face must be turn'd into rottenness; and the pamper'd body become the food of worms.

The busy man must find a time to die; tho' his full Employment spares none to provide for it.

Even the wise and vertuous, must submit to fate; and the heirs of life be made the prisoners of death.

This when I see, I weep, and am afraid; since we must all drink of the same cold cup:

All must go down to the same dark grave; and none can tell how soon he may be called.

To day we are in health, among our friends and affairs; and to-morrow arrested by the hand of death.

Nature may faintly struggle for a time, but must yield at last and be buried in the earth.

At last we must take leave of our nearest relations; and bid a long farewell to all the world.

Perhaps, the people may talk of us a while; sometimes as we deserve, and often as they please:

Perhaps, our bodies once laid out of sight, we are remember'd no more than if we had never been.

Only our good works follow us to the grave; and go faithfully with us, beyond our funerals.

Give me, eternal rest, O merciful Lord, and may thy glorious light shine upon me for ever.

We hear from New-York, That on Saturday the 23d of last month Col. Morris late Chief Justice of that Place, sail'd from thence for England, in the Brigantine Joanna, Samuel Payton Commander.

We also hear from New-York. that on the 16th of said month two Proclamations were published there by order of his Excellency Governor COSBY, with the Advice of His Majesty's Council, one promising a Reward of 50 l. to discover the Author of the Scandalous, Virulent and Seditious Reflections (not only upon the whole Legislature in General, and upon the most considerable Stations in the Province, but also upon His Majesty's lawful and rightful Government) Printed in the New York Weekly Journal, published by John Peter Zenger: The other was issued by his Excellency, pursuant to an Address of the late Grand Jury, promising the Sum of 20 l. to the Person who shall discover the Author of two late Scandalous Songs, dispersed in that City, highly defaming His Majesty's Government in that Province, tending greatly to inflame the minds of His Majesty's good Subjects, and to disturb the publick peace. And the next Day the publisher of said Journal was committed to Goal, and had a hearing on the 23d Day in the City Hall before the Hon. James De Lancey, Esq; Chief Justice, and after a long Debate, the Chief Justice Ordered the said John Peter Zenger to be admitted to Bail, himself in the Sum of 400 l. and two Sureties 200 l. each for his Appearence the next Term.

BOSTON, Dec. 16.

We hear that a Bill is now prepairing appointing Five Gentlemen Members of the Great and General Court of Assembly, to be Commissioners with full Power and Authority from and on the part of this Province, to adjust and settle the Partition-Line, with the Colony of New York, in case that Government will join Commissioners with the like Power on their part.

By Letters from North Carolina we have Advice, That on the 8th of Nov. past, Capt. Hammet in a Scooner belonging to this Place and bound hither, ran on the Bar, thro' the Inadvertency of the Pilot, and being fast aground, she bulg'd two or three Days after; the Men were sav'd, and part of the Cargo, but a considerable Quantity of Grain was lost.

Dec. 23. We hear from Salem, that about 12 a Clock on Wednesday Night past being a stormy Night, a Cry was heard there in the Air, by several of the Inhabitants (seemingly a good distance off) like unto a Woman in Travel, and often repeated.

From Portsmouth (in New-Hampshire,) December 20. Last Monday morning a Warehouse in the Eastern Part of this Town own'd by Capt. Warner, was burnt down, in which ('tis said) there were sundry Goods of a considerable value lost, the Neighbouring Houses were in great hazard, but the Wind shifted suddenly in their favour, several Vessels were also in danger but were preserved.
